

Follow the Money: Who Funded the insurance commissioner candidates?

California's Insurance Commissioner has real power over insurance rates and how insurance companies operate. The decisions made by this office can directly affect what millions of Californians pay for home and auto insurance. Two Democrats, Ben Allen and Jane Kim, are running for the job. Use AI to find out who is financing their campaigns and what those funders might hope to gain.

Step 1: Follow the money - Who is funding Ms Kim and Mr Allen?

Ask the AI:

Compare who funded Ben Allen vs Jane Kim for insurance commissioner.

Take note of the differences in funding.

Step 2: identify the policy difference that might matter to the funder.

Ask the AI:

What question should you ask to understand what the difference in supporter funding really shows?

Ask the question that AI suggests.

Step 3: Test the evidence.

Ask the AI:

Find evidence that the funder actually said that's why they're spending.

Ask the AI:

Even if there's no evidence that that is why the funder is spending, what is your analysis?

Step 4: Discuss

1. Do you understand why the insurance commissioner position is important?
2. Do you understand the difference between the candidates?
3. Does following the money help you understand what they might do if elected?
4. What are the key take-aways?